EUTERPE OLERACEA MART FAMILY

PRODUCT SPECIFICATION

PRODUCT CODE: UTIARWR5102

PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

The açai tree (Euterpe oleracea) is a palm tree specie native to the Amazon basin and belongs to the Palmae family. It grows in the wild in floodplain zones but can also be cultivated on dry grounds. Although it can be found all over the Brazilian Amazon, it is particularly abundant in the State of Para and State of Amazonas where native trees are found in its highest concentration. Among the 150 types of fruits found in the Amazon, Açai is considered to be the most nutritious of all, exhibiting a high concentration of fiber, Anthocyanins, essential fatty acids and vitamin E. It constitutes a natural time-released source of energy.

The Organic @ Kosher frozen pulp of Açai is used in the food industry for the production of juices, smoothies, ice-cream, energy drinks, desserts, and the amazing Acai Bowl produced with the Pouches.
